COME TO THE CAIRO EXHIBIT

As many of us were unable to attend the First Arab League Petroleum Exhibition in Cairo, April 16 to May 10, the Pipeline Periscope presents, on these pages, a pictorial review of the company's pavilion and display.

Tapline's exhibit included seven panels of photo murals and charts pertaining to the history of oil transportation, oil statistics, construction of Tapline, its operations and its personnel. A 30-inch WKM valve and 20-foot section of pipe were featured in the exhibit, as well as models of Sable Terminal, a main pump station, a portable gas turbine pumping unit and a construction spread. A 30-minute color film, "Kilometer 1213: The Story of Tapline" was shown five times daily in the pavilion's theater.

Over 20,000 visitors viewed the Tapline exhibit during the twenty-five day period. In charge of reception was Mr. E. Y. Ayad, Chief Oil Dispatcher, assisted by Mr. Hamad Al Nazzal, shift foreman from Yenol. Others working with the reception group were Mesers. M. Bassoul, F. Masa'ry of Beirut headquarters, and M. El Youssef, Damascus Office Supervisor.

OPERATIONS REPORT

One hundred months after the first oil flowed from the tank farm to four ships moored at Tapline’s terminal (the SUNSET, OLYMPIC LAUREL, T. S. PETERSON and KENTUCKY), the millionth barrel of crude was shipped from Sidon at 0400 hours, May 1st, by the ESSEX STUTTGART.

While all other operation figures fell drastically, it is estimated that throughput of the pipeline will average 317,000 BPD in May and that 305,000 BPD will be lifted from the terminal.

With the auxiliary pumping units shut down in April due to dwindling forecasts of tanker liftings and the accumulation of high stocks at Sidon terminal, the Average BPD received at Sidon dropped more than 160,000 barrels during the month.

Although all other operation figures decreased, it is estimated that throughput of the pipeline will average 317,000 BPD in May and that 305,000 BPD will be lifted from the terminal.
